A Bachelor's Defense.

Bachelors are styled by married men who have got their foot in it, as only half perfected beings, cheerless vagabonds, but half a pair of scissors, and many other ridiculous titles are given them, while on the other hand they extol their state as one of such perfect bliss that a change from earth to heaven would be somewhat of a doubtful good. If they are so happy, why don't they enjoy their happiness and hold their tongues about it? What do half the men get married for? Simply that they may have somebody to darn their stockings, sew buttons on their shirts and trot babies; that they may have somebody, as a married man said once, "to pull off their boots when they are a little bawmy."

These fellows are always talking of the loneliness of bachelors. Loneliness, indeed! Who is petted to death by ladies with marriageable daughters?—invited to tea and evening parties, and told to drop in just when it is convenient?—the bachelor.

Who lives in clover all his days, and when he dies has flowers strewn on his grave by the girls that could not entrap him? The bachelor.

Who strews flowers on the married man's grave—the widow? Not a bit of it; she pulls down the tomb-stone that a six weeks' grief had set up in her heart; she goes and gets married again, she does.

Who goes to bed early because time hangs so heavily on his shoulders? The married man.

Who gets a scolding for picking out the softest part of the bed, and for waking up the baby in the morning? The married man.

Who has wood to split, house hunting and marketing to do, the young ones to wash and lazy servants to look after? The married man.

Who is taken up for whipping his wife? The married man.

Who gets divorces? The married man? Finally, who has got the scriptures on his side? The bachelor. St. Paul knew what he was about when he said, "He that marries not does better."

BEGINNING EARLY.—"My son," said a New Brunswick schoolmaster to his son Bob one day, "why do you stand there against that rickety old gate while you study your multiplication table?"

"Because sir, the Bible tells us to 'prop a gate and multiply,' and I always mean to do what it says."

"Quite right, Robert," said his father; "but it seems to me you are beginning early."

[From the New York Ledger.]

What Ails All the Women.

Our neighbors over the water judging from an article in one of their leading papers, seem to be greatly exercised at present on "The Woman Question." The old model who sneezed exactly at the same time her grandmother did, and sat down and rose up, and went out, and came in whenever her husband bade her—and made no objections, at the same time, to any irregularity either in his hours or habits—it seems, has disappeared. Instead, we have that horror—the English would-be female voter; in short, the English female who asserts her right to individuality, in action and opinion, equally with her husband.

John Bull sets down his mug of beer, and says that the thing is monstrous. He says that he no longer can lounge off by himself, as in bachelor days, although he is married—and, therefore, a more important member of society. He says that he is not allowed, as formerly, to spend every evening with his chronicles—Tom, Dick and Harry. He says that his wife positively expects him to act as if he were married. He says that when he tells her decidedly that he won't do this, that she pays no more attention to his refusal than if he hadn't made it; but quietly returns to the same point of dispute the next day, and every day, and every month, and all through the year, with feline pertinacity. He says that it is like the slow dropping of water on some sensitive part of the frame, he says he don't like it, and don't know what to do about it.

He says, besides, that marriage is not all favorable to largeness of mind or breadth of view, which is very obvious in his own case, in the remarks above quoted. He says that all she says and does "has the stamp of Liliput," and that, should she have the right of suffrage, she would barter away her vote for a new gown. He says justice is a quality unknown to woman, which is very true, and that's what she is contending for. He says, to make a long matter short, that when he married he expected to live just exactly the same life that he did before, and that he finds he can't; and, moreover, he says, with a sweeping wave of his John Bull hand, that no husband was ever made more large-hearted or tolerant, or in any way benefited by marriage.

Now, if a man will marry, with such absurd ideas of what marriage ought to be, if he will marry a fool, I advise him not to go whining round the world about it; he deserves the consequences. But let him not insist that all women are fools, because he got on his knees to obtain one. I will always maintain that there are twenty bad husbands to one bad wife; and that one would seldom continue bad if her husband were just a kind to her. As to marriage "narrowing a man's mind," that which never had any breadth cannot be narrowed. And history abundantly shows how wise in counsel, how judicious in influence, how helpful in sympathy and co-operation have been many such wives.

Now it is often said that a wife to a literary man is only a hindrance. Provided she is not a fool, it would pay him, in my opinion, to give her a regular salary, if he could not obtain it otherwise, to give him the feminine side of every great question of the day, as it comes up—which, by the way, she does unconsciously, and which has anything but a "narrowing" either on his mind or his writings, whether he acknowledges it or not.

It is no small thing to be able to toss her a book and say "I want to know what is in that book, but I haven't time to read it; run it over, will you, and tell me what you think of it"—or to get from her the condensation of newspapers, magazines and pamphlets, in the same way; or translations; or to have her assistance in answering letters, without prompting, when pressed for time; to ask where such and such a passage may be found in certain authors which have escaped his memory. LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Last Warning.

Those persons who owe Revenue Tax, of any description, must pay the same during this month without fail, and any one failing to do so will be reported to the District Court of the United States and have the pleasure of a ride with the U. S. Marshal to Louisville. This is for one and all.

See advertisement of renting of booths and proposals for lumber in another column.

Call and see R. T. Smith's new Buggies and Furniture.

Nice Linen Dusters at Frank, Gump & Co's.

The Highland Club, of this city, and the Mountain Sport Club of Owensville play a match game of Base Ball, on the grounds of the latter, on Friday.

Paper Collars 10 cents a box at Frank, Gump & Co's.

We have been so much engaged with job work this week that we have had very little time to devote to local items. Our readers will please hear with us.

The new "Bell" brought here by Hoffman & Co., is to ring the death knell of Frank, Gump & Co's competitors.

C. J. Glover has now on hand an extensive stock of groceries which he will dispose of at wholesale or retail at Cincinnati prices. Give him a trial.

Salyers, Seld & Co., advertise a lot of lumber for sale in our paper to-day. Persons in want of any thing in their line should give them a call.

Monday last was County Court day. Farmers being busy with their crops, a small crowd was in town. There was not much stock upon the market, but what was sold, brought tolerably fair prices, considering the scarcity of money.

There was a large audience at the Christian Church on Monday evening last to hear the lecture of Rev. R. A. Holland. The lecture was one of the finest productions that we have ever listened to. We have not the time to notice it as it deserves.

By an oversight of the Recording Secretary of the Montgomery and Bath Stock Society, the membership tickets are printed in the regulations, on the outside of our paper, at three dollars. It should have been five dollars.

CONCERTS.—There will be two Concerts given at Tenny Hall, by Miss H. Wilcox, assisted by her music scholars, on this (Thursday) and Friday evening. Admission 50 cents. From the reputation of Miss Wilcox as a teacher, the public may expect a rare musical treat.

FINE PICTURES.—Our artist friend, Robt. Moore, has been spending several days in town this week, and had on exhibition several pictures of his own painting, which we have never seen. The picture of Mack O'Connell's little boy is one of the finest paintings we have ever seen, as was also the portrait of Mr. A. T. Wood. Mr. Moore is located in our neighboring town of Winchester, where he is prepared to attend all orders for portraits. Orders left at this office will be forwarded to him. His prices are much cheaper than those of other artists, and his pictures equal to the best of them.

THE BAND.—Mr. C. W. Young, the leader of our band, after an absence of several weeks, has returned, and their spirit-stirring music can now nightly be heard on our streets. They are improving rapidly, and ere long will take rank among the best bands of the county.

We had the pleasure of meeting with Hon. Jos. M. Alexander in our town on Sunday last. He is chairman of the Senate Committee appointed to prepare sketches of the lives and characters of Govs. Helm and Powell. He was on his way to Frankfort to attend to that duty.

SALES.—B. F. Vanmeter & Co., and B. D. Groom advertise sales of Short Horn Durham Cattle in our paper this week. The sale of Vanmeter & Co. takes place on Tuesday, the 23rd, and that of Mr. Groom on Friday, the 26th. There is a good opportunity for stock men to buy Short Horns of the best blood. Remember the days.

FLOWERS.—On Saturday last, we were the happy recipient of a large and tastefully arranged bouquet, presented by a fair lady friend, for which act of kindness she has our thanks. There are sad thoughts, as well as joyous ones, connected with flowers. They teach us that, though to-day we may be bright, joyous and hopeful of the future, to-morrow we may be numbered among the things that were.

May we so live and conduct ourselves through life, that when we come to part with the scenes of earth, we may be as serene and spotless as the dying flowers.

Free Lecture to the Ladies.

Mrs. Barclay, of Chicago, late of Columbia, S. C., will deliver a free lecture to the ladies of this place at the Presbyterian Church on Monday afternoon next, June 22d, at 4 o'clock. The subject of her discourse will be—"The Early Physical Decline of American Women, and How to Train Children in order to Secure to them the Highest Physical, Moral, and Mental Beauty." Mrs. Barclay has received very flattering notices from the press in the places where she has lectured, and we have in our possession testimonials given by the ladies of Covington and Maysville, and one from Rev. Mr. Morrison, of Terra Haute, Ind., recommending her to the ministerial and other brethren in Kentucky as a Christian lady. The lecture will be a source of refined and fruitful information, calculated to do much good in the community. Let every lady go to hear her.

The reason why Howard, Barnes & Co. manufacture such excellent whisky is because all their employees buy their goods at Frank, Gump & Co's.

THANKS.—Mr. Gump, the popular clothing merchant of our town, has our thanks for a nice linen coat, presented to us a few days ago. We advise persons suffering from the hot weather to call and purchase a suit of linen from Gump, which any one is able to do at his low prices.

We publish on the outside of this week's paper the list of premiums to be awarded at the third annual fair of the Montgomery and Bath Stock Society. It will be seen that the premiums are larger than have been awarded at the former exhibitions of the Society. The display of stock this year promises to be better than heretofore, and the accommodations on the grounds will be much better than former ly. We hope to see a good crowd of people in attendance at the fair, and can safely promise all who may attend hospitable treatment.

KILLING AT NORTH MIDDLETOWN.—We learn that a fatal difficulty occurred at North Middletown, Bourbon county, on Monday evening last between Mr. Henry Thomas and Mr. A. J. Gaitskill, postmaster at that place, in which the latter was shot and killed. The particulars as we learn them are about these: Thomas and Gaitskill are brothers-in-law—Thomas having married the sister of Gaitskill. On the evening named above Thomas was very drunk, and went home and began to abuse his family, when his wife sent for her brother, Mr. Gaitskill, who went to the house, and after some little time succeeded in quieting Thomas, as he thought, and induced him to retire to bed. Mr. Gaitskill thinking Thomas asleep for the night, retired on a lounge in the same room, when Thomas arose, and getting his rifle shot and killed him instantly. Mr. Gaitskill was very generally respected, and we understand the sad occurrence casts a gloom over our neighboring town.

MR. STERLING, June 15, 1868. I acknowledge with gratitude the interest that my friends have manifested in my behalf, and the compliment paid in soliciting me, through the columns of the SENTINEL, to become a candidate for the Sheriff of Montgomery county. I most respectfully decline to make the race, and though my inclination is diametrically opposite to my own private inclinations, yet I trust that I am not un mindful of the duty which I owe to my party. I regret exceedingly the unhappy divisions that are existing in the ranks of the Democracy of the county. Yet if we cannot all unite upon one man for Sheriff, we have an opportunity of displaying at least one redeeming quality, by going for the Hon. Thomas M. Green for Congress.

THOS. H. WILSON. Judging from present indications the Democratic Convention at New York on the 4th of July will be by far the largest political meeting that has ever been held in the United States. The people are aroused to the importance of the impending struggle. They know that momentous interests hang upon the results of the New York meeting, and hence the lively interest felt in regard to every thing connected with it.

There are differences of opinion in the Democratic party with regard to the men and measures to be recommended to the support of the people, but we look for no serious division; on the contrary, when the result shall be proclaimed we anticipate not merely a cheerful acquiescence but a hearty, enthusiastic endorsement.

It is stated by the friends of Senator Grimes, that it is the intention of that gentleman to enter suit against the New York Tribune and Cincinnati Gazette for libel. The suit against the former will be based upon a charge in the Tribune that he voted for the acquittal of the President under corrupt influences; and against the latter on a charge that he was guilty of corruption while Chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs during and since the late war.

Oscar H. Burbridge has taken advantage of the bankrupt law for about $320,000, $80,000 of which is due the United States for services rendered while he was treasury agent at Louisville and New Orleans, $100,000 due to Henry W. L. Britton, of New York city; Gen. Stephen G. Burbridge has also become bankrupt, and has over $100,000 worth of debts to settle up.

Who is the Available Candidate?

The Louisville Journal, in a cogent and forcible article, shows that Mr. Pendleton is the most available Democratic candidate for President, because he is the strongest in the doubtful States, such as Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, where the contest will undoubtedly be decided. In this connection the Journal observes:

"Who, while carrying Connecticut, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, is most likely to carry or can most easily carry Ohio and Indiana? Whoever he may be, he unquestionably is the most available man; and Ohio and Indiana themselves declare that the man is George H. Pendleton. On this point, whose judgment is better than that of Ohio and Indiana? Whose judgment is so good as theirs? Assuredly nobody's. It appears to us that, under all the circumstances, the judgment of these States concludes the question. But these States do not stand alone. Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota and all the other States that are doubtful without being hopeless, together with several States that are certain, have expressed the like judgment respecting themselves, while the Democrats both of New York and of Pennsylvania have endorsed the financial policy which forms the most salient feature of Mr. Pendleton's position, and are even now prepared, through a majority of their delegates, to endorse Mr. Pendleton himself. What other man can present such evidence of availability as this? What other man can approximate it? In our opinion, no other man. And we do not doubt that the New York Convention will be of the same opinion. It is hard to conceive how it can be of any other opinion."

A formal, fashionable visitor thus addressed a little girl: "How are you, my dear?" "Very well, I thank you," she replied. The visitor then added: "Now my dear you should ask me how I am." The child simply and honestly replied, "I don't want to know."

Ayer's Hair Vigor,
For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Jager Beer.

BY JOSH BILLINGS.

I have finally come to the conclusion that larger beer as a beverage is not intoxicating.

I have bin told so by a german who sed he hed drunk it awl nite long, just to try the experiment; and was obliged to go home entirely sober in the morning. I have seen this same man drink sixteen glasses, and if he was drunk he was drunk in german and nobody could understand it. It is proper enuff to state that this man kept a lager beer saloon and could have no object in stating what was not strickly thus.

I blieved him tow the full extent of my ability. I never drunk but three glasses of larger beer in mi life, and that made mi hed outwist as tho it was hung on the end of a string, but i was told that it was owing to mi bile bein out of place, and i guess that it was so, for i never billed over wuss then i did when i got hum that nite—My wife tho i was got tew die, and i was afraid that i sholdn't let it sed seem as tho every thing i had ever eaten in my life wuz cummin to the surface, and i do really believe that if my wife hadn't pulled off my boots just as she did, they would hav cum thundrin up too.

Oh! how sick i was? 14 years ago, and i can taste it now.

I never had so much experience in so short a time.

Fenny man shud tell me that larger beer was not intoxicating, i shud believe him; but if he shud tell me that i wasn't drunk that nite, but that my stummuck was out of order, i should ask him tow state over a few words, just how a man felt and acted when he was well set up.

If i want drunk that nite i had sum of the most natural symptoms that a man ever had, and key sober.

In the first place it was about 80 rod from where i drank the larger beer to mi house, and i was thus over 2 hours on the road, and had a hold busted thru each one of mi pantloon neez, and didn't have any hat, and tried to open the door by the hell-pull, and hickuppl awfully, and saw every thing in the room trying to get round on the back side of me; and in setting down in a chair i didn't wait long enuff for it to get exactly under me when it was goin round, and i set down a little too soon and missed the chair about 11 inches, and couldn't get up soon enuff to take the next one that cum along; and that ain't awl; my wife sed i was as drunk as a heest, and as i sed before, i began to spin up things freely.

If larger beer is not intoxicating, it used me most almighty mean that i know.

Still i hardly think that larger beer is intoxicating, for i hav ben told so; and i am probably the only man living who ever drank enny when his life was not plumb. I don't want to say anything again a harmless temperance bevridge, but if i ever drink any more it will be with mi hands tied behind me, and my mouth pried open.

I don't think larger beer is intoxicating but if i remember right, i think it tastes to me like a glass of soap suds, that a pickle had bin put tew soak in.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys,

is derived from its cures,

many of which are truly marvellous. Invertebrate cases of scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it.

Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicted in such great numbers in almost every section of the country that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfeeling of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of other diseases. It is a poison which, if not speedily removed, will develop into one of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vital. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcers on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable to active persons, and for the cure of disorders. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure by the use of this Sarsaparilla:

Lik St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas,

Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm,

Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms of Erysipelas, Dropsy,

Heart Disease, Etc., Etc., Etc.

and the various Tertiary affections of the muscular and nervous system.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for eradicating these obnoxious poisons. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint.

Leucorrhoea or Whites, Uterine

Disorders, and Female Diseases, are soon relieved and ultimately cured by its use, and having a purifying effect. Minute

Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver

Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflanmation of the Liver, and other disorders, when arising as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great remedial for the strength and vigor of the system.

Those who are Languid and Listless, Depressed, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.
